HEAR EXPRESSWAY PLAN

LINCOLN IN JUNE, 1860

Next Wednesday, Feb. 12, will be the 149th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, 16th President of the United States. With the country engaged in armed conflict between the North and South, Lincoln was faced with the most difficult task that has ever beset a President. That he succeeded in preserving the Union in the face of opposition and fear among those supposed to be his supporters is little less than miraculous. Lincoln's tolerance, and his lawyer-like tendency to delay, put-off and compromise, brought him sharp criticism from many quarters, especially among the abolitionists and the "hard peace" people. Had Lincoln been able to serve out his second term it is quite probable that the reconstruction period in the South would have been far different and as a consequence a definite and lasting accord established. Unfortunately the South is still smarting from the harsh post-war treatment and the conflict between the states is far from ended.

Area Schools' Aid Claims Get O.K. by Nickel

Will county's share of the recently approved prior state aid claim from the Illinois common school fund was $1,377,745 according to Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction. Nickell has just approved a statewide claim in the amount of $93,763,960.67.

The state superintendent has certified payment of the county claim, which will be payable to Verne F. Crackel, Will county superintendent of schools, who will in turn disburse monthly claim payments to the various school districts of the county.

School districts of this area included in the claim and the amounts of prior claims are as follows: Manhattan grade, $4,322; New Lenox grade, $66,553; Frankfort grade, $17,666; Mokena grade, $36,150; Reiter, $620; Schmuhl, $4,289; Weiten-dorf, $757; Marley, $2,537; Homer Consolidated, 33C, $6,541;

Rehearse For Senior Play

The senior play at Lincoln-Way high school, to be presented in the new auditorium the nights of March 21 and 22, is beginning to take shape.

Cast and director are working hard on the piece and stage crews are getting scenery and props together.

The play selected had its Broadway opening in the fall of 1955 as "Roomful of Roses", the name it carries as a stage production. It also was brought out in 1956 as a successful movie, under the name "Teen-age Rebel," starring Ginger Rodgers.

Written by Edith Sommers, the play deals with a teen-age girl, who after her parents were divorced was awarded to the custody of her father. The father doesn't really want her and when he decided to marry again he ships the daughter to her mother.

Meanwhile the girl has built up a barrier against her mother. What happens then is really the nub of the play.

Clear-Up Obstacles in Path of Sewer Improvement for Mokena

The Mokena village board, which discussed sewer plans at its meeting Tuesday night is scheduled to meet again tomorrow night to go further into the question.

It was announced at the meeting Tuesday that final claims for water main extensions by private capital had been paid off and now the way was clear to proceed with the sale of general obligation and revenue bonds to finance the sewer and sewage disposal plant systems.

Bids were taken last year and contracts awarded. Then the proceedings ground to a halt because of the water main extension problem. Now that has been settled it was believed that the project can be carried forward.

At least, it was said, there should be nothing to hold up the sale of bonds.

The village needs an easement across a corner of some property owned by Roy Kropp on Third st. as yet the village and the owner have failed to reach an agreement. This situation, it was said, should not hold up the program.

The water committee was empowered by the board to meet with owners of multiple dwellings with the idea of adjusting rates according to conditions.

Water users were reminded again by the board to have meters installed in places easily accessible to the persons who must read them.

The board also reminds water users that service will be cut

Boy Scout Week Proclaimed for February 7-13

The 48th anniversary on Feb. 8, of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, is being marked by launching a year-long safety good turn at the suggestion of President D. Eisenhower, for the purpose of saving the basic resources of our nation—its people.

The Boy Scout program has affected the lives of over 27,500,000 American boys and men since 1910; and now has an active enrollment of 4,700,000.

Village presidents thruout the area have proclaimed the week of Feb. 7 to 13 as Boy Scout Week and urge citizens to support the unselfish, patriotic service being rendered the communities by the volunteer leaders, who give generously of their time, efforts and energy to the benefit of the youth and to cooperate in all possible ways with their worthy Safety Good Turn in 1958.

Frankfort Firemen Extinguish Home And Auto Fires

Frankfort Volunteer Fire department was called to two fires last Saturday morning. The first at 7:15 a.m. was to a car on Harlem ave., immediately north of route 30, which had caught on fire. It was completely demolished. It belonged to Wayne Miller of S. Chicago st. Joliet, who was on his way to work at the Western Electric at Gary, Ind.

The next call was to the home of Henry Schweisow, on White street, Frankfort, when fire was discovered in the attic of the home first seen on the roof. The fire was quickly extinguished by the fire department. The most damage it seems, from water and the chopping into the roof to get to the fire.

The damage, yet unestimated was caused by the smoke and water, which seemed to penetrate the whole house. Many of the family's clothes were ruined.

One of the hardest secrets for a man to keep is his opinion of himself.

Approximately 150 persons attended a public hearing held last week at Hazel Crest by the Illinois department of highways to get views on the proposed construction of an expressway known as Federal Interstate Route 6.

The hearing covered only that portion of the expressway extending from Hazel Crest, south of the village limits of Tinley Park, to Harlem ave., at the Will county line, a distance of seven miles.

Known as the Moline route, or FAI-6, the expressway from that point is under the jurisdiction of the Elgin district engineers of the state highway department.

As it enters Will county on its way to Moline, the proposed route would carry it north of Mokena into the vicinity of Marley and would pass New Lenox about 3/4 of a mile north of the present village limits. The expressway would then pass thru Joliet.

Prosperi Objects

One complaint against the location of the new proposed structure, was Edward Prosperi, owner and operator of the Prosperi airport, 18600 Oak Park ave., Tinley Park. Thru his attorney, William Colohan, Prosperi objected on the grounds that the proposed expressway would put him out of business. As presently planned, it would cross the airport property at a point where his buildings now stand, so that they would have to be demolished to make way for it.

Others from Tinley Park whose properties are also involved in the proposed location of the expressway and who were present at the hearing are Erwin Wille, Fred Hencke, Arthur Hencke Sr., Arthur Hencke, Jr., and Clarence Tyssen, whose property is located across from the Prosperi airport. The expressway would cross the Arthur Hencke farm at 186th and Ridge land ave.

The hearing in Hazel Crest was conducted by Roger Nushbaum, expressway engineer, Marshall Suloway, assistant expressway engineer, and Robert Kronst, expressway designing engineer, of the State of Illinois, Division of Highways.

Proposed Route

The contemplated terminus of the Moline route is at its junction with the Tri-State toll highway in the vicinity of 169th st. The route extends in a westerly direction along 169th st. to just east of Crawford ave., thence in a southwesterly direction, crossing Cicero ave., just south of 175th st., crossing 183rd st., midway between Ridgeland and Central aves., and crossing Ridgeland ave. at approximately 186th st., thence in a westerly direction to the Will-Cook county line.

Still Have Room In Adult School At Lincoln-Way

The first classes of the second semester adult education program met at Lincoln-Way High School last Thursday, Jan. 30. Classes included drivers training, art, electricity, clothing construction, and investments.

Due to the preference of the majority of the class members, it was decided to change the regular meeting time of the clothing construction class to Thursday night. There is still room for several more members in this class, and registrations will be accepted in the school office.

The investments class, taught by Maurice P. Angland of Mokena, also needs several more members. The class will meet again on Thursday, Feb. 6 to give members additional opportunities to enroll. During the course, a close watch will be kept on the general economic conditions of the world and attention will be given to a diagnosis of both national and international economic conditions. Several outstanding professional people in the business world will be invited as guest lecturers. Both men and women are invited to take this course and husband-wife combinations would be ideal.

A special course in safe boating will be offered under the auspices of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, and will be starting around Feb. 18. Registration fee for this course will be $3, and further details will be announced later.

Will Co. Farm Bureau to Hold Annual Meeting

Earl Keniston, president of the Will county farm bureau, announced this week that a complete program has been planned for the 44th annual meeting of the Bureau, Feb. 15 at American Legion hall, 214 N. Ottawa St., Joliet, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Highlights of the program include an address of the day to be given by Frank H. Shuman, agriculture extension consultant to the government of India. Shuman, former Whiteside county farm adviser, has recently spent several years in India and in a few weeks will go to Afghanistan.

Caucus meetings will be held during the noon hour in the even numbered districts for the nomination of directors.

Keniston pointed out to the members that according to the by-laws of the organization, a man to be eligible to serve on the board of directors must be actively engaged in farming and must live in the district which he represents.

The rules also state that a man may serve two 2-year terms but must automatically retire from the board at the end of four years. Keniston pointed out that two men, namely, Earl Keniston and Julius Sewing have served their four years and a new man must be elected in Districts 6 and 8.

A box lunch will be served at the noon hour and free movies for the youngsters will run from 10 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Will County 4-H members will furnish entertainment. Miss Janette Sing will provide organ music.

Falls to Take Heavy Toll, Says Safety Expert

More than 500 Illinois people will die from falls this year. And more than 400 of them will be over 56 years old, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois.

Stairways and steps are major danger points for falls.

You can prevent accidents on stairs by installing protective handrails low enough for children, by putting rubber treads on the steps and by lighting stairways adequately. Hogsett recommends a two-way switch at the top and bottom of the stairs. Fasten carpeting firmly on each step, and repair it where needed so that you won't catch your heels on it.

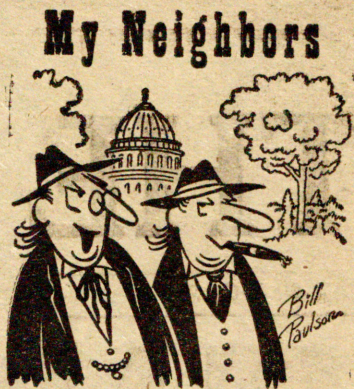

Disorder causes many falls. When mops, brooms, children's toys and boxes find their home base on stairways, broken bones and severe bruises are almost a sure result.

Personal habits often cause falls, too. When you move objects, carry them so that you can see where you are going. By slowing down, you'll go far toward preventing an accident.

Legion Auxiliary At Tinley to Aid Mountain Families

Attention has been called by the Child Welfare chairman, Betty Gager, of the American Legion Auxiliary of Tinley Park to the plight of the many southern mountain families who were overwhelmed by the flood of last spring.

The auxiliary believes there is a tremendous supply of good serviceable unused or discarded adult, children and baby clothing and low heeled shoes, in homes in the community, that the owners would be most happy to give to these families.

An appeal is made by the auxiliary to these people to give such material to the welfare chairman, who is now preparing a box to be sent to "Save the Children Federation" at Knoxville, Tenn.

If anyone in Tinley Park has some useful clothing, they are asked to please call Betty Gager, KE 2-2054 or the president, Doris Johnson, KE 2-2068 and they will be happy to pick up such material.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary will be Feb. 14 at 8 p. m. in the Legion hall.

Line and Tone Variations in Wood

Hardwoods, traditional with fine furniture down through the centuries because of their pure beauty, have also proven their versatility in the creation of contemporary styling—perhaps more so than in other material.

Illustrative is the dining suite of genuine walnut shown here, which combines a number of different woodworking techniques to provide the design and function required for beauty, durability, etc. The table stretchers are sculptured (or carved) to achieve the modern "free form" shape, whereas the table legs are lathe turned for gracefulness and resistance to kick marks. The chair backs are steam bent for maximum body contour comfort. The chair arms are shaped to present a comfortable surface to bare arms. Even the tambour doors are fashioned from shaped solid walnut parts.

All flat surfaces, of course, are of bonded hardwood plywood, which assures the ultimate in strength and stability. Top and sides utilize the natural beauty of plain sliced walnut, and the figured walnut drawer fronts achieve a rich and most pleasant accent note.

The physical properties that make hardwoods suitable for so many uses, include workability, hardness, density, porosity, elasticity, flexibility and bending strength, resonance, shock-resistance, very favorable strength-weight ratios, stiffness, ability to hold finishes and polishes, insulating properties, stability, vibration resistance, and durability.

In addition to the well established great beauty of hardwood surfaces, which defy successful imitation, this versatility is also a large factor in the preference for genuine hardwoods by the discriminating person.

Will County 4-H Federation Holds Annual Dance

The Will County 4-H Federation held its annual formal dance Saturday, Feb. 1 at the Cantigny Post in Joliet.

Beverly Reigal and Tom Townsend were co-chairman of the affair, assisted by Karleen Braiden, Glenn Gill, Gene Klett, Fred Kurtz, Sherman Reiter, Glenda Scheffler, Barbara Sheer and Virginia Wesoloski.

Miss Cherie Brooks, William Alexander To Wed Saturday

Miss Cherie Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brooks, 11401 197th st., Mokena, and William E. Alexander, son of Mrs. Bertha Vaughn of Monee will be united in marriage in the Park View Baptist church, Mokena this Saturday, Feb. 8 at 4 o'clock. The immediate family members will be guests at the wedding.

The wedding reception will be held in the church parlors following the ceremony to which all friends and relatives are cordially invited.

Prosperity goes to the heads of some—and to the waists of others.

Seems like every time history repeats itself, the price goes UP.

Tinley Gardeners to Meet Feb. 20

The next regular meeting of the Tinley Park Garden Club will be Thursday, Feb. 20 at the home of Mrs. Raymond Anderson for a 12:30 desert luncheon. Mrs. Harry Mager will present the program.

Members are asked to remember to bring their Valentine exchange gifts. Members are asked to notify the hostess if unable to attend.

In winter, motorists should watch for children sledding or playing on ice as they may slip into the path of danger. When traveling along narrow streets motorists should be especially watchful for children and other pedestrians who may walk out from between parked cars.

Bremen Downs L-W 67-55 to Keep Lead

Knights Play Braves Even For 3 Quarters; Defeat Plainfield

By FRED KIESLAR

Lincoln-Way basketball teams—varsity and frosh-soph—played three games last week with varying results.

They lost to Bremen high in a Southwest Suburban game at Lincoln-Way Friday night; split a bill with Joliet Catholic high Saturday and won a pair from Plainfield earlier in the week.

The Bremen varsity won 67 to 55 and the frosh-soph visitors triumphed 52 to 38.

In the game with Catholic high the Lincoln frosh-sophs won 42 to 40 but the varsity lost 66-45.

Earlier in the week Lincoln-Way journeyed to Plainfield to take both ends of a double-header. The frosh-soph won 60-44 while the varsity came out on top of a 63-57 score.

The conference game left the Braves still on top in the league race with seven victories and one defeat.

The Braves got a scare, however. Lincoln-Way kept pace with the league leaders in the first quarter and was trailing 12 to 11 when it ended. In the second frame Lincoln-Way forged ahead, scoring 20 points to the Braves 17 and held a 31 to 29 lead at the half. When the third period ended the Braves were in front again 44 to 41.

In the final quarter the Braves whipped up the losses and racked up 23 points while the Knights could count but 14 so when the final horn sounded the score was Bremen by 12 points, 67-55, the same margin it held over Sandburg the week previous.

High scorer for the game was Henry Jessen, of Lincoln-Way with 28 points. Dale Hartwig was high point man for Bremen with 26.

The defeat of the Lincoln frosh-soph by the Braves ended a four-game winning streak. The visitors chalked up 13 points to L-W's 4 in the first quarter and at the half had a 28-15 edge. At the close of the third period Bremen led 45 to 25. The Lincolns came to life in the last quarter, outscoring the Braves 13 to 7 but the final count was Bremen 52, Lincoln-Way 38.

In the game Saturday night at the Hilltop gym in Joliet Dave Zechlin scored all of the Knights points in the first period—eight, but meantime Catholic high had counted 19. The Hillman scored 16 points in the second quarter to the Knights' 12 so the half ended with Joliet on top 35 to 20. The Hilltoppers kept right on going in the third frame, scoring 18 points while the most the Knights could count was seven.

In the last quarter the L-W outscored Joliet 18 to 13 but the game ended with the Hilltoppers victors, 66-45.

Jessen with 17 and Zechlin with 16 were high point men for Lincoln-Way. Tom Dedin was top scorer for Joliet with 16 points.

In the curtain raiser Lincoln-Way frosh-soph outscored Joliet 9 to 7 and at halftime were still two points to the good, 23-21.

Joliet had tied up the score at 30-all to end the third quarter, and in the final frame L-W managed to be out in front, 42-40 when the final horn sounded. Tom Peterson's 18 points were tops for Lincoln-Way.

In the games against Plainfield the varsity teams played on even terms the first quarter, each scoring 14, and continued to trade point for point in the second quarter, each team scoring 16 so the halftime score was 30-30.

The close of the third frame found the Knights in front, 45 to 41. In the last quarter L-W outscored Plainfield 18 points to 16 to win by six, 63-57.

In the frosh-soph contest, L-W led 16 to 12 at the end of the first period and 26 to 21 at the half. When the third frame ended it was Lincoln-Way 40 and Plainfield 33. In the last quarter the Lincolns scored 20 points to 11 for Plainfield to make the final score 60 to 44.

Tomorrow night Lincoln-Way will play Rich there and on Saturday night will be host to the Blue Devils of Peotone.

Frosh-soph games begin at 6:45. The varsity tilt starts about 8 o'clock.

ANYBODY'S BALL—when the hands and players are evenly divided as they are here. Just who got the ball here the photographer doesn't remember and it really makes no difference as the picture was made near the end of the game when Bremen had a substantial lead over Lincoln-Way. The Knights battled the Braves on even terms for more than three quarters but couldn't maintain the pace. Shown here, left to right, are Meentz, of Bremen, Dusek and Zechlin, of Lincoln-Way and O'Neill of Bremen. (Marvin Smith photo)

Jim Hon's basket with ten seconds remaining in an overtime period handed the first place Methodists a 45-43 win over the second place Nazarene, to assure them of at least a tie for the Church league title. Hon had tied the game with a free throw with two seconds remaining in the regulation time.

The Nazarene club jumped off to an early ten point advantage but the Methodist squad fought back to within four points at half time. The rest of the game was close with neither team gaining more than a five point margin at any time.

The Methodist team again presented a balanced attack with three players scoring in double figures. Tom Jeffers had 13 points, Ken Webster, 11; Elmer Ginther, 10, plus an outstanding rebound performance.

Hon collected seven points—all coming in the second half. The Methodists need only one more victory in its remaining four games to clinch the championship.

The scrappy second-place Nazarene team, which had won three of their last four league games, was paced by forward Ron Bressi who accounted for sixteen points and his brother Gary, who came thru with 13.

The fast improving Teen Club moved into third place by beating the Catholics 44-29. The Teens won their second straight game under its new coach Jerry Hug. The game was close until the third quarter when Bruce Ralson scored eight of his 19 points to put the Teen club out of reach. The victory moved the second place Nazarenes, while Teens within one game of the St. George fell into the cellar for the first time this season. Ralson led all scorers followed by Wally Eggert, who collected 14 points. Ron Gallina, league's leading scorer, scored 12 points to pace the losers.

Sandburg Five Takes Rich Rockets 53-58

Carl Sandburg high school's varsity basketball team administered another defeat to the once high flying Rich Rockets last Friday night by a score of 53-50. It was the second time this season that the once feared Rockets have lost to Sandburg's Eagles.

In Friday's game the Eagles jumped into a 92 lead and it appeared as if the game might be a rout but Big Mark Hill picked up three fast fouls early in the first quarter and was withdrawn. The Rockets came back strong so that Sandburg was only leading 12 to 10 at the end of the first quarter and by halftime Rich had taken a slim one point lead 31-30.

Sandburg outscored the Rockets in the third quarter by four points and maintained that margin till the end of the game. Ford with 21 points and Hill with 11 led Sandburg scorers. In addition to his 11 points Hill also garnered a total of 22 rebounds and Graninger 19 rebounds to lend a valuable assist to a winning cause.

Frosh-Soph Lose

The 53-50 loss on Sandburg's court was the first loss the once high flying Rockets have suffered at the hands of the Eagles on their home court in four years of competition. With the win over Rich and the victory by Bremen over Lincoln-Way, Sandburg maintains a second place standing in the conference one game behind Bremen.

The Sandburg frosh-soph continued to show improvement as they lost to Rich by a score of 54-44. However, Sandburg led the entire game until a few minutes were left in the third quarter when a late Rich rally put the game out of reach. Freshman Duane Erickson played his best ball game of the year as he scored 14 points and grabbed five rebounds.

Sandburg travels to Reavis tomorrow night and on Saturday night engages powerful Marminon Military Academy, rated 13th in the state on their home court at Aurora.

Mokena Scores 35-33 Upset Win Over Rockdale

The Mokena Meteors scored the biggest upset of the Des-Plaines Valley conference by toppling previously unbeaten Rockdale 35 to 33 Tuesday night at Rockdale. The victory came in the only game to be played between the two schools this year and dropped Rockdale into a first place tie with Channahon. Channahon and Rockdale have not played one another yet. The Meteors dropped their game to Channahon two weeks ago and do not meet them again so it appears that the championship will not be decided until the final contest of the season.

The Meteors started slowly and fell behind eight to six at the quarter. All of Rockdale's points were scored by Torkelson. The Meteors got a basket from Williams and two from Yunker. The second quarter was more than two minutes old before Mokena scored its first point and by that time Rockdale had moved ahead 12 to 6. Yunker scored a free throw and Muehler drove in for a lay-up and the score was 12 to 11. Hernandez got the two points back but Williams' long swisher made it 14 to 13. Torkelson scored a basket but Yunker matched that and the score stood 16 to 15 until Hernandez scored at the half for a 18 to 15, Rockdale lead.

The tide of the game definitely changed in the third quarter as the Meteors had their offense moving and surrendered points only after a bitter struggle. Rockdale opened the second half with a basket by Hernandez to move in front 20 to 15. This was their last important lead as Muehler and Johnson connected with baskets and Yunker's free throw tied the game at 20 to 20. Mokena then went ahead to stay on Yunker's next bucket altho Hernandez tied the game for Rockdale at 22-all and 24-all. Two more baskets by Yunker, moved the Meteors in front at the end of the third quarter 28 to 24.

Rockdale tied the score with four minutes to play at 28-28 with Hernandez and Torkelson doing the work. Muehler's field goal and Yunker's free throw made it 31 to 28. Gale scored for Rockdale, but Yunker pushed the score to 35 to 31 with a basket and two free throws with 22 seconds remaining. Hernandez got the final two points but Mokena killed the ball to the ground.

Yunker was high point man with 21 points. Hernandez got 17 for Rockdale.

The Meteors scored their fifth conference victory, 26 to 7. Smith had 8 points and Baker 6 to pace the win.

The next game is against New Lenox at Mokena tomorrow night. The first game is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. The Meteors were supposed to play Elwood last Friday night but Elwood failed to appear, choosing to forfeit the game.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Sunday, Feb. 9

CHURCH SEEKS HOME

The last worship service to be held in the temporary public school buildings at 179th and Thomas. Since the school board ruled that civic groups must cease using school property as of Feb. 15, this Sunday will mark the end of the first phase of organizing this Protestant church. They will move forward after this date with new strength and faith and a variety of plans for future accommodations.

Since their Sunday school attendance has filled two complete public school buildings their first concern is for the young children and many mothers who have been teaching the classes. A parsonage for a permanent minister has been purchased and this may possibly be used for Sunday school for a short while until the selection of a minister. Other public meeting buildings will be available during the next few months.

All who wish to demonstrate support for this first Protestant church in the area may attend this service at 11 a.m. and share in the pledges and plans for the future of the church. The Rev. J. J. VanBoskirk, organizing minister, will conduct the service. Sunday school for all ages of children will be, in the two other school buildings at 11 a.m. also. All Protestant backgrounds are invited to help and share in the labor and love of bringing the first permanent church into our growing community.

Monday, Feb. 10

CITIZENS COMMITTEE

A special date, due to the ending of use of school property as of Saturday, Feb. 15. Assistant State's Attorney, Don Moore will speak on local government.

Sat. Feb. 15

USE OF SCHOOL ENDED

To preserve schoolroom equipment and maintain school property, to free the school board of assignment duties for our entire community—this date marks the end of use of schools by any and all civic groups. So far, three possibilities are coming: funds from the Homeowner's association will provide a meeting hall through the summer, the new fire station might accommodate small meetings, and the new parsonage being purchased by the Protestant church may be available for a few months. More spaces may be provided later. Keep posted.

Sunday, Feb. 23

NATIONAL HEART FUND

It is encouraging to hear our Fire Department will have a new inhalator for emergencies. On this day, from 1 to 4, volunteers from our community will walk door to door, collecting contributions to sustain medical research and care for all those suffering with heart trouble. This is a subject so close to many, we should be glad to help. Rusty Wilson has been asked to organize our community collection, to be joined with Tinley Park's drive.

$210 FROM MOTHERS MARCHING

$210.47 was collected in just one hour by the Mothers club on its night of the Mothers March of Dimes. The Mothers club of Coopers Grove school sponsored this Polio fund—and what a fine job they did! About 10 of the ladies drove over to the Municipal building at Tinley Park to turn in their collection and meet the ladies who participated in the Tinley Park fund. They were very proud of their neighbors and friends who contributed so freely. Co-chairmen were: Lillian Thomas and Rusty Wilson.

Volunteers were: Bette Creighton, Elaine Timmerman, Joyce Olson, Jo Manypenny, Stella Schultz, Bobbie Waddell, Dee McGrath, Helen Warsynski, Lucille Raddatz, Mary Lou Kraefft, Martha Shank, Irene Sokolowski, Ilene Hejmalik, Mary Ann Ford, and Marilyn Matthews.

Two men also volunteered to cruise through the streets in their autos to check on the safety of the ladies. They were: Bud Otto and Edwin Raddatz.

Friends to the West

Have you met any of the families living west of Cicero Highway? There are many warm and wonderful people there who are included in our school district 160. These people have watched our own land change from wide flat farms to a cozy huddle of 300 houses. They come to many of our civic meetings and have worked hard to help our school and our new leaders with their many problems.

Three families whom I have met personally and know to be eager to help us whenever they can, are:

Mr. and Mrs. Don Swanson.

For several years they have worked to bring a PTA to our school district, and Mr. Swanson was just named official school PTA. Also, they both have contributed an endless amount of time and effort for the Citizens committee, investigating all sorts of needs and questions in the past few years for betterment of our area.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hein.

They are the proud parents of the young girl who shared in contributing caroling money to our needy school board. Jessie has served nobly at first meeting of the brand new PTA to provide coffee and desserts. They, too, have worked within the Citizens committee as advisors, seniority members etc., to always give their best efforts for the progress of our social growth. (George was our very first Santa Claus, too. What finer recommendation can I give?)

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tryner

These young people have four very young children, three girls and one boy. Evelyn Tryner served as secretary of the Mothers club of school for two long hard years. Her two older children have just started in St. George's school in Tinley Park, but she still attends Citizens committee meetings in our community and helps on their social events. Mr. Tryner is very busy, studying at night school several nights a week this year.

First Representatives

Elected delegates to the Country Club Hills Homeowners Assn. are: Andrew Coutoumanos, Raymond Winters, Raymond Gaertner, John McCormick, Danny Williams, Augustino Cuppari, Lawrence Simor, Thomas Quigley, E. K. Landenberger, C. H. Bennison, James Quinlan, Don Merriam, Donald West, Jim Lanigan, Jane Wulf, Coleman Keyes, Wesley Zimmerman, Cass Brady, W. G. Marquardsen, Rusty Wilson, John Toner, Stanley Sylwestrak, William Cannon.

These people, 22 men and two women, are your own voices in any decisions about using funds for bettering our community. They will maintain rules of property zoning and maintenance, and plan and labor for the best possible future for all of us. Tell your delegates what you want done out here. Help them to do a good job.

Blue and Gold Dinner

This will be a family potluck dinner Wednesday, Feb. 26 for parents and children of families interested in the Scout movement—Boy, Cub and Girl Scouts, and Brownies. All are invited to bring food and share in a friendly supper hour. Elaine Timmermann, chairman of the dinner, can be called at SY 8-7863. She plans to have the dinner early, by 6:30 for young children. Call in your reservations so she can reserve space large enough to hold everyone. It will be on Wednesday, Feb. 26.

A REPORT FROM CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF SCHOOL DIST. 160

In October 1957 members of the Citizens committee's Fact Finding subcommittee, under Chairman Don Swanson, met with representatives of the Mothers club to determine facts about PTA. A report was made to their respective organizations.

Shortly after, through the interest of people in the community, a PTA organizing committee was formed. Mr. Swanson was asked to be its chairman. Thereafter it was reported that it was now a community effort and no longer a part of the Citizens Committee Fact Finding group.

PTA refreshment chairman, Mrs. Jessie Hein thanks all who donated home made cookies and who helped in the kitchen. The Charter of this new PTA is forth coming along with membership cards. Those who joined on Jan. 30 are charter members.

The Citizens committee's Fact Finding subcommittee is working on the problem of better communications for this school district. Pertinent information has been gathered from various sources including local newspaper publishers. A future meeting is being planned to include all publicity chairman of various organizations within the community.

Plans for the coming Sweetheart dance of the Citizens committee are well under way with the receiving of dance tickets from the printer.

FIREMEN HAVE VOTED

Officers of the new Firemen's club are Capt. Joseph McCoy, for president. Capt. McCoy is stationed at Fifth Army Headquarters in the city. Frank Ryan will be vice president. Geo. Bartnik is treasurer. George Hummer is secretary.

In the Volunteer Fire department, itself, two new lieutenants will be: Ken Buder and Jerry Bette. Their duty will be assisting the Fire Chief in directing help during fire emergencies in our community.

PTA IS ROLLING

With a charter membership list of around 60 names and a first collection of nearly $30 in dues, the Coopers Grove School PTA is off to a healthy start. Yearly dues will be 50c per person.

Mrs. Millward, district director and Mrs. Pettijohn, who has worked for 14 years in the same area and served as district director in the past, were both very complimentary to the new officers and the new members of this PTA unit. They spoke to the group and expressed great pride in both the quantity and the quality of the organizational meetings. They cited Don Swanson as Founder of the Coopers Grove PTA and told how Mr. Swanson had worked hard for several years to bring PTA benefits to this growing community.

The business meeting was conducted by temporary chairman, Don Swanson. Temporary secretary was Doris Toner. First business was reading of the By-laws by William Jirik. This aroused amazing interest in the large audience, and discussion went on for about 1½ hours on these laws, rules, and outlines for the new PTA.

Next was the signing and collecting of dues for charter members. Following official registration, each member could vote for new officers for the coming year. A most concise list of candidates was then read by James Moore. His committee had listed biographies of the one best candidate willing to serve and previously contacted by the nominating committee. Biographies of those nominated were so impressive that not one nomination was made from the floor. A unanimous vote was cast for the ballot offered by the committee.

President of the PTA will be a young man, Mr. Donald Schwenk; first vice president will be Mrs. Doris Toner. Program chairman will be Marj Davis. Secretary will be Mrs. Mary Lou Keyes. Treasurer will also be a man, Roger Chavanne.

It seems significant to me that so many vigorous and well-educated men are interested in this PTA. Public education is in dire need of all the help it can get out here, and pre-war babies in our community indicate the situation will not get better without hard work contributions, fund-raising events, and good planning. It is reassuring that so many fathers offer their services to this dramatic problem.

MAY YOU FARE WELL.

Evergreen Best For Windbreak, Says Forester

Evergreens are the only trees to consider when planning a windbreak.

W. F. Bulkley, extension forester at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, says that both Norway spruce and Douglas fir make good windbreak trees.

Balled-and-burlapped stock is preferred by most windbreak planters, Bulkley says. In more than 400 windbreak plantings, the most successful have been made with balled-and-burlapped stock.

Bare-root stock is also available and is cheaper, but it is smaller and far less reliable than the balled-and-burlapped trees. The main problem is finding bare-root stock with enough roots to overcome the summer hazards of lack of moisture, high temperature and competition with other plants.

Spacing the trees in the windbreak is an important thing to consider. In Illinois, windbreaks are generally planted in three rows. The trees should be 14 feet apart in the row and between the rows. Too often the trees are planted too close together.

Tight tamping of the ground around the ball of earth is also an important step in correct windbreak planting.

A mulch of two bushels of ground corncobs per tree is recommended for balled-and-burlapped trees from 18 inches to three feet high.

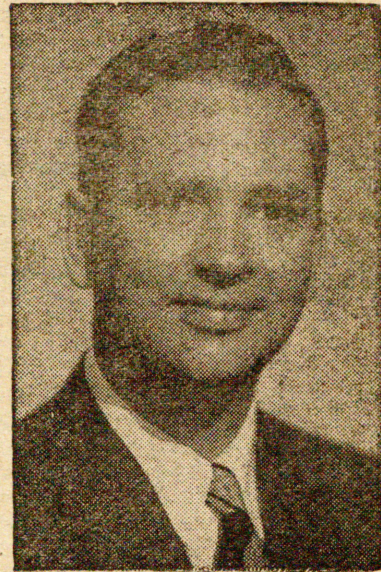

And you must fence the area to protect the trees from grazing animals.

Missionary to Describe Work Among Africans

The Rev. Max V. Kemling, Methodist missionary to Portuguese East Africa, will speak to the Methodist Men of the Frankfort Methodist church, Wednesday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Kemling returned to America with his family in April of 1957 after four years of missionary work in Africa. He and his family will return to Africa in June of this year.

The last two years in the field the Kemlings were in charge of Kambini Station near the town of Inhambane. The Rev. M. Kemling was responsible for the supervision of and teaching in Methodist theological and bible schools there. The theological training was with two groups in a family training program consisting of about 40 families. Two Bible schools included some 30 young men. He was also field treasurer of the missionary work in his area.

Mrs. Kemling, a registered nurse, was responsible for the medical work at Kambini. She ran a day clinic and dispensary and supervised the small hospital, pre-natal clinics, and maternity ward.

The Rev. Mr. Kemling will show kodachrome slides of his work in Africa. He also will bring a few curios and interesting items used by the natives in his area.

Prior to entering the mission field the Rev. Mr. Kemling served a pastorate in Nebraska and three pastorates in Illinois including St. Paul church, Chicago, the student foundation at DeKalb, and the church at Malta.

Also scheduled for the February meeting are installation of officers and consideration of projects for the new year.

Winter Fails To Chill Plans For July 4th Picnic

It is still the middle of winter, but the Blue Island Lions Club is preparing for the 12th annual July 4th celebration to be held in the suburb on Friday, July 4, 1958.

A budget of $5,500 has been adopted by a committee headed by James P. Rigoni, 12807 Greenwood av., Blue Island, who will be 1958 general chairman, succeeding the late Dr. L. O. Damm, chairman for the past three years.

Mayor John M. Hart, co-chairman, told Rigoni and committee that the city again would back the venture wholeheartedly and it was the best single attraction in the suburb each year.

There will be two parades and a fireworks program.

Boy Scouts to Celebrate 48th Anniversary

The 10,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Explorers of Pokagon Trails council will celebrate national Boy Scout week February 7 to 13 in observance of the 48th anniversary of Boy Scouts of America. This is the third year of the Scout "Onward for God and My Country" program.

Local Scouts will tell the public thru various special events the benefits of their training and activities. Scout Sunday, Feb. 9, they will participate in church services and Scout week they will take part in civic programs, present demonstrations, and show exhibits. They will wear Scout uniforms on one day during the week.

A flag streamer will be awarded to all Cub Scout packs that carry out three Scout week projects and to all Boy Scout troops and Explorer units that complete four.

Boy Scout week will see the launching of a yearlong safety good turn suggested by President Eisenhower, honorary president of Boy Scouts of America. Scouts will demonstrate the effectiveness of their motto, "Be Prepared," by applying the safety good turn to traffic safety in the spring, outdoor safety in summer, and home safety in the fall.

Movement Grows

Pokagon Trails council has become the sixth council with more than 10,000 Scouts among 85 councils of region seven in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Three years ago membership was 7,000 and 10 years ago 3,500. Today there are more than 6,000 Cub Scouts. Of 3,777 Boy Scouts, Explorers, Sea Explorers and Air Explorers, 1,111 or 29 percent, have achieved the rank of first class and above. The national goal is 40 per cent. There are 1,146 second class Scouts and 1,520 tenderfoots.

There are nearly 3,000 adult leaders, including 600 den mothers for Cubs and 2,400 men Scouters for Cubs, Boy Scouts, and Explorers. Adult leaders also serve on the council executive board, as district and neighborhood commissioners, and on council and district operating committees for advancement, camping and activities, finance, health and safety, leadership, training, and organization and extension.

Ray J. Donovan of Calumet City is Scout executive and Joseph Claffey of Hammond is assistant Scout executive. Jack E. Weintraub of Park Forest is Ashkum district executive; Joseph Koshut of Chicago Heights, on military leave, Peace Pipe district executive; and Ray C. Radake of Park Forest, Potawatomi district executive.

Has Summer Camp

The council has 265 Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts sponsored by 180 religious groups, civic organizations, and service clubs. It operates a summer camp at Camp Betz near Berrien Springs, Mich. and weekend sites at Camps Eggers, Hawes, Nissaki, and Roe. As early as February reservations are filled for Camp Betz, which has a season capacity of 1,000 boys. Reservations are filled from three to four months in advance for the four weekend camp sites.

Option has been taken on 35 acres of farm land adjacent to Camp Betz as result of the council's first annual sustaining membership enrollment last year to raise capital funds for expanding camping facilities.

Pokagon Trails council, with headquarters at 5217 Hohman ave. in Hammond, serves 37 communities in the western half of Lake County, Ind., and south suburban Cook county and a portion of Will county. Operating funds are supplied by Com-

THIS WEEK

-In Washington With CLINTON DAVIDSON

If you listen to the debate in Congress this week you can hear what sounds remarkably like an echo of speeches made some 33 years ago in those same House and Senate chambers.

The issue is the same: How important to our defense is air power? The central figure of the debate in 1925 was the well-remembered Brig. Gen. William "Billy" Mitchell, an early and earnest advocate of air power.

Mitchell was being courtmartialled by the Army for criticizing the military brass for failure to build up our almost non-existent air force. Congress was divided over whether Mitchell was a crackpot or a genius.

The question, again, is how important is the airplane to our defense? Has it, or will it soon, become antiquated by guided missiles? Those are questions this session of Congress must attempt to answer.

Who will make the important decision? Two small groups of experts, the Senate and House sub-committees for Air Force appropriations, have major responsibility for supplying the answers. The conclusions they reach can determine the success or failure of our defense against aggression.

Hearings on President Eisenhower's budget request for Air Force funds, including both missiles and planes, will be begun by the committees within the next few weeks. This and a later column will be intended to give you a behind-the-scenes look at how those committees think and function.

First, the Senate sub-committee Both Chairman Dennis Chavez, a New Mexico Democrat, and ranking minority member Leveritt Saltonstall, a Massachusetts Republican, are men of unusual vision and ability.

Sen. Chavez fought for more money for our defense all last year, bucking the "economy" tide that was running strongly. That he was right is now indicated by President Eisenhower's request for a supplemental defense appropriation for the remainder of this fiscal year.

The New Mexico Senator has combined ability and 35 years of seniority to rise to the head of one of the most important and powerful committees in Congress. Relying to charges that Congress had cut military funds too drastically, he told us:

"My figures show Congress has not been reluctant to provide the money to assure this country's safety. We are going to keep right on providing every cent needed to maintain our position as a world power."

Two years ago Sen. Charves with what now proves to have been remarkable foresight, fought successfully to include a billion dollars more in the Air Force budget than the Administration had asked for or wanted. As much or more than any other man in Congress he has helped to build a strong U. S. air force.

Sen. Saltonstall came to the Senate in 1944 and has twice been re-elected. As a former chairman of the Armed Services Committee, he has a thorough knowledge of our military requirement and strength.

"The front line of our defense is SAC (Strategic Air Command) with the B-52, and in the months ahead, we hope, with the B-58. These are the weapons of today and today's defense must be built around them," Sen. Saltonstall said.

The secretary-treasurer will present the annual report, affording members an opportunity to learn about the progress, operations, and plans of their association.

Hazen S. Whalin, regional manager of this district for the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, will discuss subjects of interest in the farm loan field. He will also tell of the two $500 scholarships being offered by the Federal Land Bank and the National Farm Loan Association to senior high school boys who are planning to enroll in the college of agriculture at the University of Illinois in the fall. Further information can be obtained at the local farm loan office and from the high school vocational agriculture teachers.

After the business session, William Z. Pooley, manager of the Will county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, who spent a year and a half in Greece as investigator for the international relief program, will tell of his work and experiences there, and show slides depicting the way of life in Greece.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Last week we mentioned a few of the seemingly "little" things which a driver can do or note to avoid a "big" accident. Here are a few more tips along the same line.

When driving at night, watch the tree or telephone wires bordering the road on hill tops. Reflected light will tell you when a vehicle is coming from the opposite direction. You should do the same thing when approaching curves. The reflected light on trees, telephone wires, fence posts and billboards will alert you for approaching vehicles.

Be on the lookout for shadows or reflected lights from cars that may be directly in front of a large truck you are planning to pass. You may think you have plenty of time to pass the truck, but when you get alongside you may discover there are one or more cars directly ahead of the truck that you didn't see before pulling out of your lane to start to pass.

Peck Rips So-Called Progressive Education—Can Be Ruin of Nation

By GEORGE PECK

(Editor's Note: George Peck is President of the Laymen's National Committee, sponsor of National Sunday School and Bible Weeks.)

Many time I've been accused of being an old "foggy" that I'm still living in the good, old "horse-and-buggy" days, that the parade of progress has passed me by. And why? Because I still believe in the cardinal virtues that in times gone by contributed so much to the welfare, prosperity and happiness of the American people.

And now I'm again leading with my chin, in the full knowledge that once more I'll be bringing down on my balding head, a heap of recriminations from my "do-gooder" friends (?) who believe, or who pretend to believe, that government can and should do things for its citizens that they can and should do for themselves—the things which they formerly did and by so doing created the world's greatest civilization.

Russia has beaten us to the draw by launching Sputniks, number one and two. In the opinion of some of our bureaucrats at Washington, the answer to this challenge is to appropriate more tax-money for missile research and development, and to have the Federal Government give aid-to-education. They see in Russia's Sputniks an opportunity to trot out the so often spurned "Federal Aid To Education" and at long last foist it on the several States.

Their argument is that Russia is turning out more scientists than the U.S.A., and that it is necessary for the Federal Government to give aid to the States if we are to catch up and pass Russia in the "Production of Scientists Race." But this, in the humble opinion of this scribe, is not the answer to the problem. It ignores the basic reason not only for this nation's failure to turn out scientists, but experts in most of the other professions.

And that basic reason is "progressive education" which over the past two decades has blighted the nation's educational system—which has succeeded ed in practically eliminating personal responsibility, competition and initiative from the minds and hearts of our public school, high school and college students. The theory of "progressive education" is that all students must be given equal rewards for unequal performances—no student must be flunked because it would give him or her an inferiority complex for life.

Yes, I'm an old "foggy." I still believe as did my father and my grandfather that the primary purpose of education is to prepare the adolescent to fight the battle of life. Life is a struggle and if struggle is eliminated in the schools, how in the name of all that is holy, can our schools carry out their proper function or readying the student to cope with the struggle he must face as an adult?

Our educational system is sick—very sick. The Administration's scheme of appropriating money for helping the States bring forth more scientists would treat only the symptoms—not get at the root of the disease. It would fall short of the mark.

During the past several years I've talked with hundreds of employers, both large and small. Their experiences dovetail with my own. The chief concern of the young American high school or college graduate seeking employment (the product of "Progressive Education") is not an interest in the opportunities offered for advancement, but rather chiefly, if not exclusively, a concern as to the number of vacations with pay, sick leave, unemployment compensation, the number and length of coffee-breaks, and how soon he can be retired on pension. It doesn't enter his mind to find out just what his duties are to be and to figure how he can make his fair contribution to the success of his prospective employer's

In other words, the graduates of our schools today, have been lovers of individual freedom, transformed from self-reliant scorning interference with their personal and private affairs, to leaners relying upon government dictation in each and every phase of their activities.

Yes, I'm an old foggy. I recall the time when the home and the school worked together to so discipline the growing child that when he grew to manhood he was able to take his place in society as a constructive and productive citizen. "Progressive Education" has changed that and until we discard that debilitating system, no amount of money dished out by Federal

"IF A MAN IS STUPID ENOUGH . . ."

Editor John Fischer of Harper's Magazine is not beguiled by that curious philosophy of life which deifies the "Common Man". Writing in his "Editor's Easy Chair" column, he says: "Our whole way of life is now based on the theory that only the mediocre and ineffectual deserve to be especially cherished by society. . . ."

"So if a man is stupid, lazy and feckless enough, there is nothing our society won't do for him—particularly if he comes from a long line of stupid, lazy, and feckless ancestors. When he has a job, the union sees to it that he is never fired for anything short of the most outrageous sloppiness and shirking. When he doesn't, a relief check is always waiting. If he absent-mindedly begets more children than he can support, the state takes care of them. For good measure, we ply him with subsidized housing, free medical care, and the tender ministrations of social workers; and we entertain him lavishly with free television programs carefully tailored to his sluggish wits.

His children become the darlings of the public schools, which are primarily designed to keep mediocre youngsters (and their parents) happy. Here little Willie Jukes is taught 'life adjustment', including how to dance, play the clarinet, and drive a hot-rod—but rarely does any teacher insist that he learn to read and spell properly, because the effort might bruise his fragile soul."

Mr. Fischer will make many people angry. And the reason he will make them angry is a sad and ominous one—that what he says is so largely and increasingly true.

AREA SCHOOLS—

Ann Rutledge, 156-C, $12,776; Peotone unit (it includes Green Garden) $14,480.

Monthly payments will be made to school districts on the basis of the prior claim which Nickell has just approved. Such monthly payments will be made for a six month period. In September, 1958, Nickell will approve an amended final state aid claim, with the differential between the prior and final claims to be recapitulated and paid during the six months period from July through December. Pursuant to recently enacted legislation, payment of claims is made on a monthly basis beginning in January of the school year covered in the claim. This procedure was enacted to shorten the waiting period for recipient school districts. The prior claim is based on average daily attendance during September and October of 1957.

The final six months of claim payments to school districts will be revised upward or downward, depending on the differential of the recently approved prior claim and the final amended claim to follow, Nickell stated.

CLEAR-UP OBSTACLES—

off if they are 30 days delinquent in payment of their bills. If they have not paid up within 40 days a lien will be filed against their property.

A request by the Rev. William Riemann and Hans Mueller, representing the congregation of St. John's church, that the church be permitted to use a strip of park property along the east side of the church to make a driveway or passage to reach the portion of their property fronting on Third st.

The church has such a passage now but when the addition is added to the north end of the church this drive will be closed.

The matter was referred to the planning commission for study and recommendation. It was the board's understanding that any expense in making the passage would be borne by the church.

The board granted the request of Mrs. Harold Behen, made in behalf of the Mokena PTA for permission to hang a banner over the street at Mokena and Front to advertise a Valentine dance to be given by the Parent-Teachers.

Five students from the social study classes at Lincoln Way attended the board meeting, Kay Swinford, Nancy Long, Bonnie Bruce, Rodger Olson and Geraldine Munch.

MOLINE ROAD—

The proposed road would cross U. S. Route 45, a little to the south of the WLS transmitting station in Will county on its way west. It will follow a line about 1½ miles north of Mokena and continue pretty much straight west until it is in the vicinity of Marley, where it will take a southwesterly course passing New Lenox about 3/4 of a mile north of the present village limits.

It will continue in a southwesterly direction and as far as can be ascertained will cross U. S. 30 in the vicinity of Gougar rd. and Washington st.

After crossing the New York Central tracks, the highway is scheduled to run south and then swing west thru the south side of Joliet.

Some months ago when details concerning this expressway were first discussed, it was proposed to take it over the Illinois waterway in Joliet on a fixed bridge, built high enough above the water to allow ocean vessels to pass. At that time a mile long approach to the bridge was proposed. This bridge, it was pointed out at the time by Mayor James Hennessey of Joliet, would not aid that city in its traffic problem and proposals were made to federal engineers it would be better to carry the highway south of Joliet, and they did consider bypassing Joliet to the south.

But it is reported federal engineers have come back to their original plan of taking the highway across Joliet and over the waterway just south of McDonough st.

State and highway engineers say however, that present plans call for a shorter approach to the bridge.

After leaving Joliet, the highway is expected to continue west to the vicinity of Minooka in Grundy county.

There are no present plans to abandon U. S. route 30.

Start 1961

Construction of the proposed Moline route expressway is expected to begin in 1961 and be completed in 1963. The estimated cost of this portion of the expressway is expected to be $16 million. The state expects to begin acquiring right of ways for its construction in 1959 or 1960.

The expressway is a small link in the 41,000 mile highway program, all expressways, to be constructed thruout the country and financed by federal, state, and county funds, with the government paying the mammoth share of the cost, or 80 percent.

This public works program was authorized by the U. S. Congress in 1944.

Slides were used at the hearing to show the network of interstate routes included in the program of construction of national highways, which will connect all large cities in the United States. When completed, it will be possible to travel non-stop from New York to San Francisco via automobile.

Within Cook county the planning and financing will be divided equally between the State of Illinois and the County of Cook, with the State handling south of 167th st. and the County north of that point.

Cook county's portion of the cost will be financed partly from a $245 million bond issue.

The State has spent a considerable amount of time planning the Moline route, discarding many alternate plans, before the present proposed plans were drawn up.

Majority 4-Lane

The entire system of the interstate expressways will have only 7,000 miles of two-lane roads, with the remainder four lanes or more. While the majority will be constructed as four-lane expressways, according to state engineers, in the urban areas, some expressways will have anywhere up to 12 lanes.

Construction of the new state expressways is being handled by several districts, all under the control of the state highway department.

At the Hazel Crest hearing, state engineers stated the mos logical place to start the Moline route was at a point where the proposed Illinois tri-state toll road turned north, which is also a part of the interstate road system.

Since they were initiating the road in an urban area, they chose one with the least development, with plans to skirt around the built up areas.

A large interchange is planned at the junction of the county expressway FAI-4 and the Moline route FAI-6. The only feasible place to place this interchange was at the center. Another control center is located at 183rd st., where the Moline route will meet the proposed south expressway, between Cicero and Central aves. Another control point is planned at 186th and Oak Park ave. The reasons given for choosing this particular location was to take advantage of a curve in the road where 42A turns toward Harlem. Also taken into consideration in selecting this location, was the state hospital and the WLS radio station.

The passage of the route was chosen, engineers stated, to bypass subdivided areas which are already equipped with utilities.

The large interchange between the south expressway and the Moline route is a combination of trumpet and cloverleaf types. At Ridgeland ave., an overpass is planned.

At its terminal in Hazel Crest, an overpass is planned at Western ave., with the expressway running along 171st st.

To Reduce Accidents

Stressing the safety features of the new proposed national expressways, state engineers advised the latest highway engineering features will be incorporated in their construction. They will be level, have flat curves with adequate clearance, an aid to reducing traffic accidents.

The majority of persons who attended the hearing live in Hazel Crest. They were concerned how the new expressway would affect their individual properties.

Division of the village by the two proposed roads, the Moline expressway and Illinois toll road, is not relished by some Hazel Crest citizens.

One realtor present objected to the expressway because it would cut across a portion of land which has been platted for homes. The area in question consists of 250 acres between 167th and 175th sts. If the proposed plans are not changed by moving the expressway further to the south or north and bypassing the property, the land will become useless, he contends. The area is affected by the crossing of the expressway at 169th st., between Crawford and Kedzie aves.

The engineers explained to the interested group the right of ways which would have to be acquired to make way for the new expressway.

All of the objections raised at the hearing will be studied and given careful consideration, they were assured by state engineers.

Dr. Bradley On New TV Series

Dr. Preston Bradley, distinguished religious leader, author, lecturer and commentator, has a new television series, "Dr. Bradley Speaks," on WGN-TV (Channel 9) at 10 p.m. Saturdays. The series began Feb. 1.

The inspirational and philosophical program features folk songs sung by Win Stracke in the ancient tradition of troubadours.

Dr. Bradley's subject for this series will reflect current events and their relation to every day life.

The half-hour opens with Stracke singing of Dr. Bradley's subject in the same way that news was related by minstrels in days of yore.

Dr. Bradley, nationally known as the dynamic founder and pastor of the People's Church of Chicago, is a pioneer broadcaster. He was first introduced to a radio audience from Chicago's Pantheon theater by Jerry Sullivan in 1924. He also presented a daily program on WGN for more than a decade.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Chicago Public Library and the State Normal School of Illinois, a life member of the Art Institute and a participant in a score of welfare and social societies.

Mining of Kaolin Was Once Big Industry But Now Ranks With Dodo

By JOHN W. ALLEN
(Southern Illinois University)

A few years ago southern Illinois began to break out in a rash of centennial celebrations and evidently found it a pleasant experience. Schools, churches, communities and assorted groups have continued the practice. Even now, a half-dozen such observances are underway.

Several appropriate occasions for such observances, however, may slip by unnoted. One of these would mark the opening of the state's first kaolin mine about one mile south and two miles west of Cobden in Union county.

Failure to observe a kaolin centennial will not be strange, for the industry is entirely gone. Except for one lonely house, several times worked over, the town of Kaolin to which the product gave a name has joined the roster of vanished villages.

Only a few of the now aging men who worked there in the declining years of the industry are left to tell of it. A few lingering traditions of better days are still heard, and scars left on the hillsides may still be seen.

This earlier Illinois industry apparently resulted from the activities of the Kirkpatrick brothers, competent and skilled. They found and outcropping of excellent kaolin on a hillside about five miles northwest of Anna and opened a pit for its removal. For some time they hauled this clay from the pit to their pottery in Anna by ox wagon. A principal use of kaolin was the making of the distinctive glaze that identified their product.

Kaolin from the pit they had opened was much sought by other potters over the country, and shipment was begun over the railways. Machinery was installed to dig clay from the large open pit. A railway spur about a half-mile long was laid from the station named Kaolin to the mine. A drying processing and loading shed 60 feet wide and 300 feet long was built. Additional open pits and some tunnel mines were opened to the north and east of the original one. Drying, bagging and shipping sheds were built at the railway tank town of Mountain Glen about a mile and a half north of Kaolin.

The mining of kaolin was an active industry for many years. When World War I came it was found to be of strategic value and mining was accordingly increased. Several hundred men found employment here. With the close of the war and the development of glazes using other materials, kaolin mining declined greatly. The original pit that had expanded to cover about three acres was abandoned and allowed to fill with water. The decreased demand for the clay was met by sinking vertical shafts in deposits found on the north side of the hill.

Even Beavers Quit

Men who had come to work at the mines moved away. The post office and stores of the village closed, the railway station and switch were removed and the shipping shed was allowed to fall down. Now, just short of its centennial, the industry has entirely ceased. The large pit, once about a hundred feet deep, has filled with silt from the surrounding hills until it is now about 35 feet deep. Only when the visitor looks at this lake and considers that about a half million cubic yards of the clay were taken from it alone, does he realize the magnitude of the industry that centered here.

A few years ago beavers came to live at the lake. Tree stumps they gnawed along the margin of the lake may still be seen with sections of the logs they cut. Now, even the beavers have abandoned the site. Fresh cuttings show that they are busy, as beavers should be, along the nearby creeks.

In addition to the appeal that the story of kaolin offers to those historically inclined, the site offers many other things of interest. Those who would birdwatch will find many kinds that are not common, such as kingfishers, chuck-will's-widows and crow-sized pileated woodpeckers. Plant life also is in great variety.

If the visitor is interested in Indians remains, one of their ancient campsites is found on either side of the gravel road leading south near the railway curve west of Mountain Glen. Indian Chimney, about a mile west and south from the site of vanished Kaolin, offers a continuing puzzle. Those interested in gathering fossils will find a nice deposit of them beside the roadway about a mile east of Mountain Glen.

The village of Mountain Glen itself should appeal to those who again would glimpse something of the vanished calm of a country village of 50 years ago. They are a friendly people and will pause to talk about the times when kaolin was an important industry in the vicinity.

One strange fact connected with the kaolin mining industry remains, however. Despite the number of men employed, the years during which work was carried on and the hazards naturally connected with mining, no one could recall an accident that cost a life.

The Bremen Beat

By EDWIN BRUELL

"The great objective of the social studies department—and of all education—must be the development of informed, able individuals, fully aware of the interdependence of the people of the modern world. They must also be aware of their responsibilities as citizens of our country to their local community, the state, the nation, and the world."

This is the way that Harold Binkert, chairman of the social studies department at Bremen community high school, summed up the departmental philosophy.

What of the impact of the rockets and missiles on social studies teaching, he was asked. "I think that rockets and missiles will focus more attention of public education, so that, once again, we shall examine it to see if we are teaching basic information in the social studies, so that students may learn to live and make decisions in this complex world," Binkert answered.

He cautioned that educators in the United States need to be sure that the essentials in social studies are not subordinated and made secondary to broad, general phases of the subject. Noting the benefit to be gained from such units as guidance and adjustment, he stated that they should not crowd out the essentials such as geography.

To follow a typical Bremenite thru school, a freshman would take Social Studies I as a required course. This basic course includes orientation to the school and instruction, in compliance with the state law, on the subjects of alcohol, narcotics, and driver education. They study community life to help find their place in the school society.

In the sophomore year, the majority elect to take the Survey of History course, which tells the Story of Nations in the words of the textbook title.

As a junior he is required to take American history. Therein he fulfills the state requirements by passing a test on the Declaration of Independence, the national and state constitutions and flag courtesy. Also each student has a chance to prepare a term paper; and the results of this paper, particularly in the case of students who go on to college, indicate that the proper preparation of it is of great value to them.

In the senior year, course offerings are government, which takes up local, state, and federal governments with emphasis on the latter; sociology, which considers personal and group problems of society; economics, a study of the economic order; senior problems, a study of national problems of the broader type; and commercial geography, which is concerned with the economic needs of various countries.

"In social studies we can demonstrate that the United States has not only the privilege but also the duty to prove to the world that all peoples can live in harmony. Social studies should teach us to live humanely and responsibly and properly within the framework of our technology. As such, social studies is an important aspect of public education," Binkert concluded.

The twelve members of the social studies department at Bremen, who range in home towns from locations in Alaska to Missouri and include ten men and one woman, besides Binkert, chairman, who teaches Survey of History and government, are Norbert Roesemeir,

FARM NEWS

For Cook County
by
W. F.
Whiteside

assistant farm adviser

During the month of January, more than 250 farmers attended four county extension meetings to obtain information on topics of interest to them. Ten specialists from the college of agriculture appeared on these programs. It is hoped that the farming interests were benefited by these meetings. Suggestions about past meetings or requests for other programs are always welcomed.

At the recent vegetable school Dr. J. P. McCollom, University of Ill., discussed Gibberellic acid. It increases height of plants and induces rapid growth. It hasn't shown much promise on agronomic crops. Limited use may be found on vegetable crops and ornamentals.

Vegetable variety trials held on various farms last summer reveal the following information: Victory Golden for fresh market sweet corn, main crop; Sioux for fresh market tomatoes and Yolo Wonder A is a good green pepper variety. Our thanks to the cooperators in these demonstrations.

'The Wonder Worlds of Farm & Home Progress' is the theme of the 1958 Farm and Home Festival on the University of Illinois Campus in Urbana. This show of science in action, serving the farm and home, is one you won't want to miss, regardless of whether you live on a farm, in town, or in a large city. Dates are March 27, 28 and 29.

Want to grow sugar beets? Now is the time to be thinking about it. The state acreage is 1,972 acres, all of which will be grown in Cook and surrounding counties. Contact the local ASC office in Tinley Park or Elmer Meyer, Dolton, Ill.

William Stelter, Tinley Park, chairman of the county soil conservation district, asks that I remind you of the district's annual meeting. It will be held Feb. 20, 7:00 P.M. at the Tinley Park Methodist church. A supper will be served by the ladies of the church. Following the banquet, Dr. John H. Garland University of Illinois, will speak on the geography of this area. Three directors will be elected at the annual meeting. Retiring directors are: William Stelter, Tinley Park; Henry Andersen, Orland Park; and Simon De-Boer, Chicago Heights.

Since 1957 was a poor oat crop year in Illinois, farmers are urged to buy their seed oats now.

All farmers who grew Clinton will be ahead to change to another variety. Clintland, Newton, Fayette and Nemaha looked best in 1957 tests. Limited supplies of Minhafer seed may be available.

When changing varieties, it's best to buy the purest and best seed available. That means certified seed.

At the agronomy meeting held at the Farm Bureau building recently Dr. Sam Aldrich made some important and informative statement relative to our soil and what kind of crops yields we could expect.

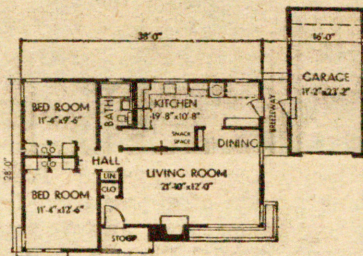

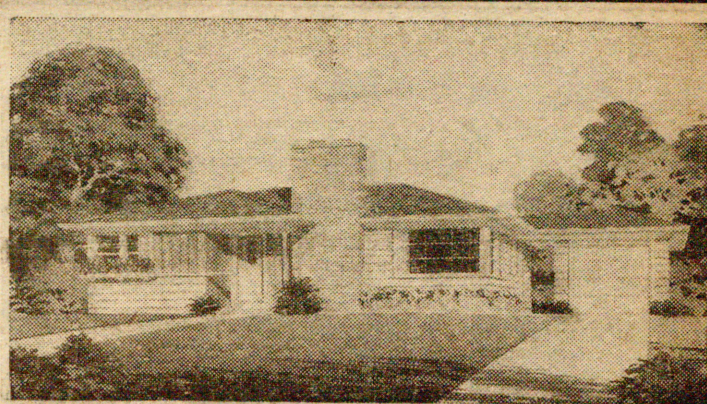

First he said you must set up a goal. Some of the guides in reaching the goal could well be: 1. Soil tests; 2. experience; 3. strip tests on your own farm (for example do not fertilize part of your crop so you can check on the yield of both the fertilized and unfertilized portion); 4. to understand your soil.

Motorists driving at night on winter's slushy roads should not only clean their windshields and windows for better visibility but their headlights also, the Chicago Motor club advises. Winter driving requires maximum visibility at all times.

How many of these electric helpers have you added since 1947?....asks LITTLE BILL

☐ a ☐ b ☐ c ☐ d ☐ e ☐ f ☐ g ☐ h ☐ i ☐ j ☐ k

You're an average family if —in the postwar years you've added six new electrical appliances. Shown here are a few typical examples.

This is why you're using far more electricity nowadays than you did a few years ago. And why life is a lot easier. But of all the things you buy today, electricity has gone up less than almost anything else.

So, while your bill may be a little higher, electricity is actually doing nearly twice as much work for the money now as it did years ago.

See how little it costs to run each of these electric helpers.

a—Electric water heater—2½ gallons 1¢. New, fast electric models deliver all the hot water a big family needs 24 hours a day.

b—Automatic washer—3 loads 1¢. Saves hours of work every week.

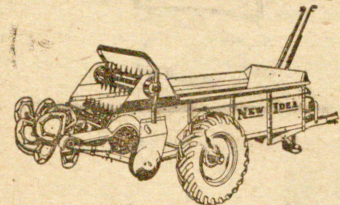

c—Electric Dryer—just 6¢ a load is all you pay to dry the clean electric way!

d—Dehumidifier—1¢ for 4 hours. Keeps basement dry, keeps tools from rusting.

e—Power saw—works a solid hour for 1¢. Cuts straighter, faster.

Other appliances shown include:
f—Furnace blower—½¢ an hour. (Keeps heat even, saves you many dollars on fuel.)
(g) radio—5 hours for 1¢, (h) drill press—an hour and a half of work for 1¢, (i) ceiling fixture—5 hours of light for 1¢, (j) electric hand drill—works 2½ hours for 1¢, (k) electric sander—only 1¢ for 2½ hours of help

Oak Forest Hosp. Patients Have Variety of Self-Entertainment

Patients at Oak Forest Hospital, 159th and Cicero, participated in a pinocle tournament Tuesday evening, Jan. 28.

Twenty eight patients signed up when the tourney was first announced. More than twice that number turned out opening night. The ensuing playoff and finals will be scheduled so as not to conflict with other patient activities, according to Oak Forest Hospital Volunteer Services Director Mrs. Dorothy Hunter.

Show New Talent broadcast to the patients at bi-monthly sessions. The New Talent Club, just recently organized to give patients with musical dramatic, or an entertaining urge the opportunity to perform, met for the third time Jan. 29.

On alternate Wednesday evenings there are games parties organized for patient participation, with the assistance of senior girl scouts under the direction of their leader Mrs. Edward Spooner, of Flossmoor. The Flossmoor group initiated the games parties when they donated the first set of games. Over 200 patients have been attracted to an evening of checkers, dominoes, and more modern table games, and never less than 50 remain for the full two hour period.

What, No Bermuda Shorts?

As soon as the hospital's painters can get around to it, a shuffleboard court will be painted on the linoleum floor of the main dining room. Shipboard rules will be taught and the court will be open to all the patients at all hours the dining room is not in use for food service or preparatory to serving.

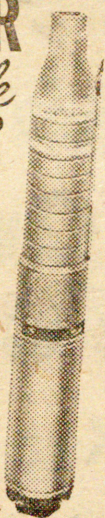

The Record club continues to flourish, with the patient disk jockeys preparing programs

The Monday and Thursday day of March, A.D. 1959, at the evening movies continue to play to a full house. Last week there were 28 patients wheeled in their beds to the balcony of the auditorium, filled below by wheel chairs and patients sitting in the theater seats. Some 46 teenage volunteers wheel the beds and wheelchairs to the Monday night performances. The patients movies, shown under the direction of Walter C. More volunteers, both men and women, are needed to assist with the evening games and the volunteer activities during the day. Interested adults may contact Mrs. Hunter at FU 8-2360, Ext. 253.

Chicago Park Azalea Show to Open Feb. 9

One of the earliest harbingers of the spring season in the Chicago area comes to the city in February when wintry blasts and swirling snow still vent their fury on winter-wearyed Chicagoans. A welcome sight then is the annual Azalea Show of the Chicago Park District which, in contrast to the wintry scene without, transforms the park conservatories into gardens of magnificent blooms reminiscent of early spring vistas in the Deep South.

Chicago's azalea trails in the Garfield and Lincoln Park conservatories will delight visitors from near and afar for the 16th consecutive season when the park district stages its 1958 show during the three weeks from Sunday, Feb. 9, thru Sunday, March 2. To provide ample opportunity for the hundreds of thousands who annually view the breath taking exhibit, the conservatories will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day during the show. Admission is always free.

About 60 varieties of azaleas will be shown in a profusion of color ranging from pink, white and rose to rose purple, lavender, salmon, crimson, scarlet and orange scarlet. Predominant in this colorful scene will be Rhododendron concinna, large lavender plants dating back to the World's Fair of 1893. Eye-arresting accents of other colors will be found in tropical shrubs and early flowering tulips, Narcissi, Primroses, and Hyacinths. Camellia bushes in full bloom, moss-laden trees and trails lined with logs and tree stumps will make the scene more realistic of the Southern Springtime.

The Park District Azalea Show is one of the four major floral exhibits in the conservatories staged under the direct supervision of the chief horticulturist William C. Blaessing; these shows are widely known and admired for artistic arrangement and perfection of blooms.

Groups planning to view the show may arrange for guide service by writing the chief horticulturist or by telephoning Garfield or Lincoln Park conservatory, KEdzie 3-1281, or LI 9-3006.

Will Discuss Purchase of Special School

The regular business meeting of the Suburban Southwest Assn. for Mentally Retarded Children will be tonight, Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Oak Lawn Community high school, 94th st. and Southwest Highway. Included in the agenda will be discussion about the purchase of a building in Oak Lawn for the school maintained by the association now holding classes in rooms rented from the First Congregational church of Oak Lawn.

There will also be a report on the bake sale held in January and details of the sale to be held in February.

Another matter to be brought up for discussion will be a change in the method of financing the school.

The Suburban Southwest Association invites parents of mentally handicapped children in the area bounded by 87th street on the north and south to Tinley Park to attend these meetings. Further information may be obtained about the school by contacting Walter Rataschak, 10004 S. Spaulding, Evergreen Park, president; Mrs. Daniel Leahy, 9326 S. 53rd ave., Oak Lawn, Mrs. W. J. Cong. Mason Makes Speech Against Raising Ceiling of National Debt

There were only three speeches made in the House against the proposal to raise the debt ceiling from $275 billion to $280 billion—Mr. Mason of Illinois and Mr. Gross of Iowa spoke against any increase; Mr. Byrnes of Wisconsin spoke in favor of a $3 billion increase. The following are excerpts from those speeches:

Mr. Mason: Mr. Chairman, the President has asked the Congress to raise the national debt limit from $275 billion to $280 billion. This simply means he is asking us to increase the borrowing power of the administration by $5 billion so that his "spenders" will have that much more to spend if they feel they need to do so. It means the administration then will not need to live within its income of 75 billion—the largest income Uncle Sam has ever enjoyed. It means also that the present administration has no intention of adopting the money saving Hoover recommendations nor of reducing the foreign aid program.

I was one of the three members of the Ways and Means committee who voted against this proposal in committee. I will be one of the minority to vote against it on the floor. As a nation we can and should live within our income just as the great majority of the American people live within their incomes.

Mr. Chairman, if this congress would just do two things:—namely, adopt the Hoover recommendations and stop giving out foreign aid, we could save $10 billion a year. That would make possible a tax cut of $5 billion, a payment on the national debt of $3 billion, and would still have $2 billion extra for needed national defense.

Mr. Gross: Mr. Chairman, let it be clearly understood by those who support this bill that they are simply adding more weight to the millstone of debt and inflation that already hangs heavily around the necks of the American people.

I recall that in 1953, Secretary of Commerce Weeks asserted it was high time to halt "international handouts and global boondoggling."

And in 1953, former Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey pointed out the danger of continuing to spend American taxpayer money abroad to build competitive enterprises, adding that "our scale of taxation is already too high and to maintain a sound and honest dollar we must bring our expenditures and revenues into balance."

Mr. Chairman, I am irrevocably opposed to any increase in the federal debt at this time. I voted for reductions in spending last year which, if adopted, would not only have easily kept the federal debt within the present limitation but would have provided some payment on the principal.

Mr. Byrnes: Mr. Chairman, what is the justification that has been presented to us? Only that the present ceiling in view of our cash position and the demands that will be made upon the Treasury make it difficult to conduct day-to-day fiscal management affairs.

I concede there are difficulties but that does not justify making it easy for the federal government to get started on another period of deficit financing. Part of the trouble we are in today is because congress has made it too easy, too easy for itself and too easy for the executive branch, to increase spending and then pay the bills with borrowed money. We have been postponing the day of reckoning. It is time that we make that process of postponing and borrowing more difficult instead of easy.

If we are having fiscal management difficulties, there are two ways to get out of it. Raising the debt limit and borrowing more money is only one. The other way is to cut down our expenditures, and I respectfully suggest that, instead of taking what always appears to be the easy way out, for a change we take the hard but prudent way and do something about cutting expenditures.

At age 20 we don't care what the world thinks of us; at 30 we begin to worry what it thinks of us; at 50 we find it wasn't thinking of us at all.

THE NEW ADDITION to the Central school, Tinley Park, is expected to be completed within the next two weeks. The long, low one-story structure was started last fall. It contains six classrooms and a suite of offices for the administrative staff of the school. Completion of the new building means that double sessions which have been held for fourth grade students since last September, will no longer be necessary. The building will be used for students of this grade. The present staff offices will be converted to a library and rest room for teachers. The new structure was added to the east and north of the present building. (Marvin Smith photo)

Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

As in most human activities, investors are inclined to generalize regarding prospects and earnings in various industries. Individual companies vary widely within an industry group and frequently move counter to the particular groups earnings and dividends on a per share basis.

An example of this is had in the case of the Virginian Railway. In 1957, this road split its common stock two and one half shares for one old share. The common stock is valued at about 27 and paid a dividend of $2.60 on the basis of the new shares in 1957. It earned about $5 per share on the same basis. Its 1958 earning are expected to be about $4.50 per share. Indications are the road will pay $2 per share regular dividend plus an extra in 1958. For the past several years this road has paid about 53 per cent of its earnings in dividends. This would equal $2.38 per share. This would mean a dividend return of between 7.4 per cent and almost 9 per cent, depending on the extra dividend at year end.

This is a short road running from West Virginia coal areas to Norfolk, Va. Norfolk has become a very important port for export of coal to Europe. Most students of investment situations are aware of the fact that American coal can be exported profitably to Europe and laid down in the Ruhr valley of Germany at only slightly higher figure than costs of German coal. John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and some of the large coal producers recently formed a company to handle export of coal. They are obtaining special coal loading and unloading equipment as well as converting ocean freighters specifically for the coal trade. West Virginia is an important source of this export bituminous coal and Norfolk an important port for handling same.

Coal mines of western Europe must use considerable hand labor whereas most successful American coal mines use mechanical aids to increase productivity per man hour, several times that of the European miners. This condition is due to the fact that successful American mines work on coal seams which are above ten feet in thickness. They can use what are known as mechanical cutters and loaders. As an example, the Ruhr mines do not have uniformly thick seams, but vary greatly in the same mine and do not lend themselves to such mechanical aids.

The European miner and his sons are migrating to jobs which offer more reward for less of the heavy labor of the mines. This has caused a steady decrease in labor supply with insistent demand for more income by those remaining in this work.

England gives us an example of the effects of low productivity per man hour, pricing itself out of the market and the social and political effects bringing on nationalization of the mines without increase in productivity. Now the coal mines are a budget burden on England. English miners are little interested in economics except wherein it touches their incomes.

It should be remembered that there is practically no coal in all of Scandinavia, little in Italy and uneconomic mines in other countries of Europe.

All this while western Europe is industrializing at a rapid rate.

Export of coal from this country is not a temporary condition.

How to Trade In Commodity Futures

This fascinating field offers rich rewards to those who will study it, analyze trends, appraise all factors accurately and use good judgement. To broaden public understanding of commodity futures trading and its opportunities, a new booklet, "Trading in Commodity Futures," has been compiled by the Association of Commodity Merchants. It contains much valuable information on how to trade successfully in these markets.

Read Luke 18:18-27.

Come, follow me. (Luke 18:22)

The great Filipino martyr, Dr. Jose Rizal, once expressed his disappointment over the aimlessness of many of his countrymen. In the face of a national crisis, he referred to them as "stones wasted in the field without becoming parts of any edifice."

Leave a stone alone by itself in the field, and it is trampled under the feet of men, or perhaps becomes lost in dust of mud. Pick it up and make it part of a floor, or wall, or house, and as long as that house stands, that stone has usefulness.

If we take our seemingly insignificant lives and build them into the cause of the kingdom, our lives will have meaning.

In the face of today's great opportunities for investing our lives in this worthwhile cause—seeking to salvage humanity from hate and fear—we are so often found floating aimlessly around. We are overburdened by the petty problems of our personal existence. God helping us, let us forget self and deepen our discipleship.

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for calling us to be disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ. Help us to hear His call and obey. Open our eyes to the wonderful opportunity to become part of Thy eternal kingdom. Grant us the will to learn of Christ and the courage to follow Him. In the Master's name. Amen.

When the right wheels of the car go off the pavement, motorists should not attempt to get back on the pavement while traveling at high speeds, the Chicago Motor club advises. If the wheels go on the shoulder of the road, drivers should reduce speed; then make sure the roadway is clear before cutting back onto the pavement by turning the front wheels sharply to the left.
